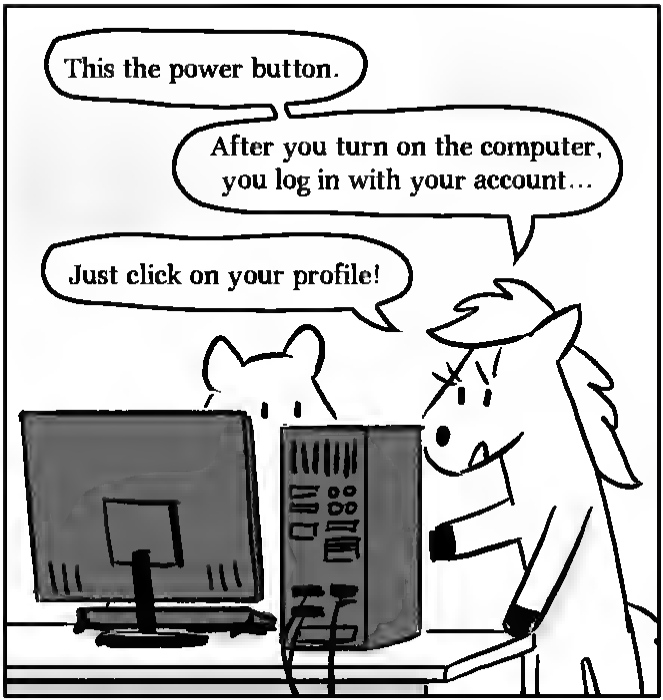
ROAR STREET JOURNAL

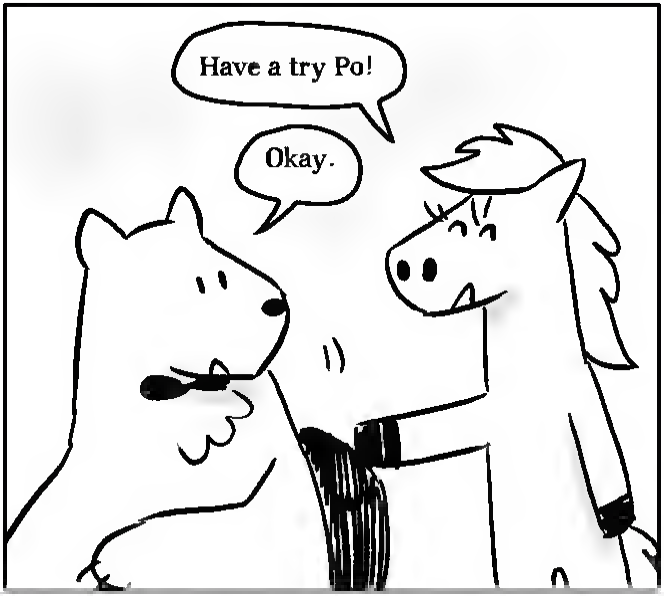
Po In The Big City

Po has worked in Roar Street Journal for a month.

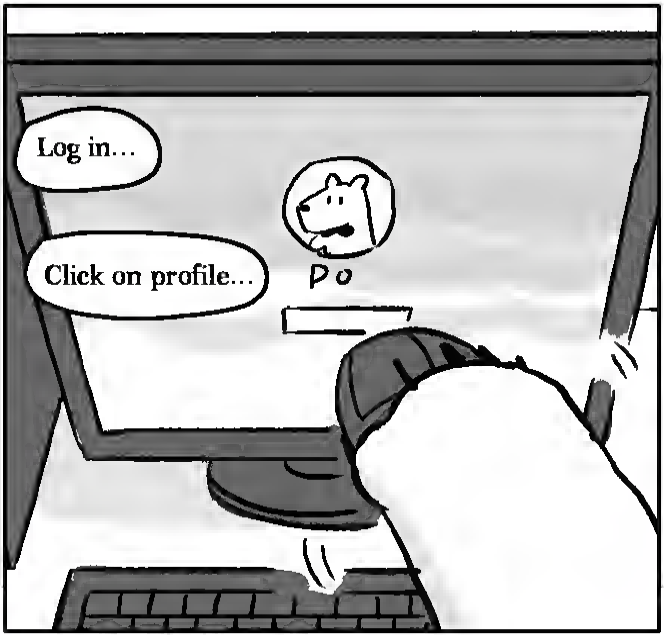
In this month, Po learned a lot of things.

How to use a computer

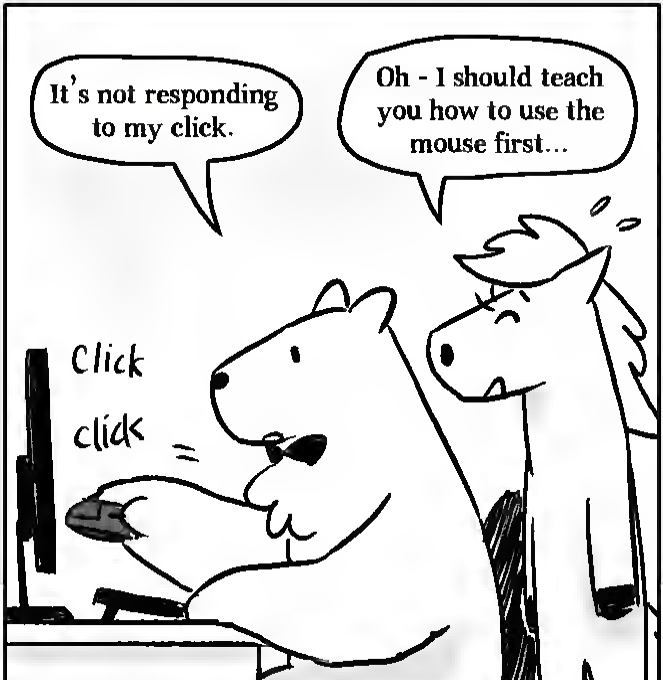




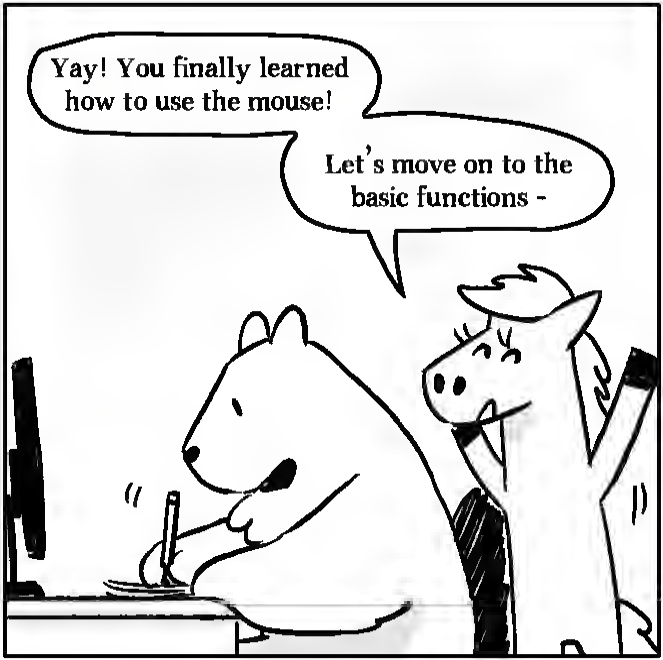
Have a try Po!
Okay.



Log in...
Click on profile...
Do



It's not responding to my click.
Oh - I should teach you how to use the mouse first...
Click
click

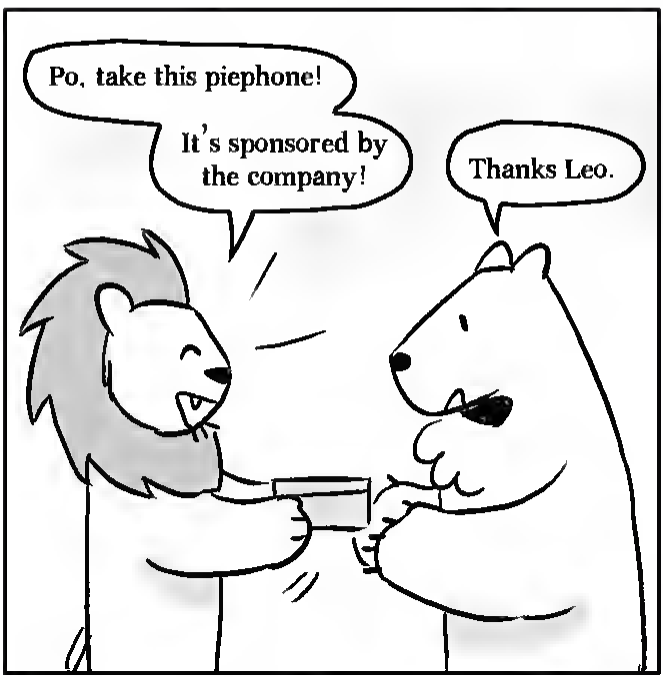


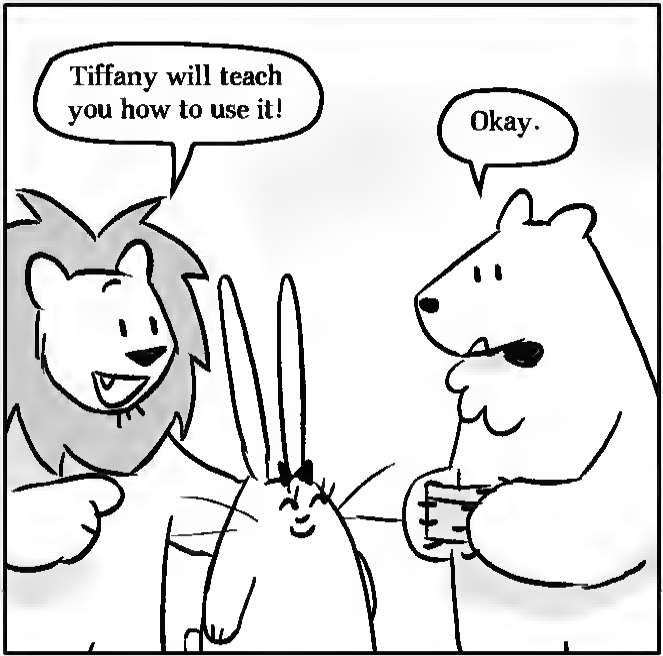
Yay! You finally learned how to use the mouse!
Let's move on to the basic functions -

What are you doing?
There are so many complicated steps, I need some time to write them down.

I guess I'm not a good teacher afterall...
COMPUTER FOR DUMMIES

How to use a smartphone

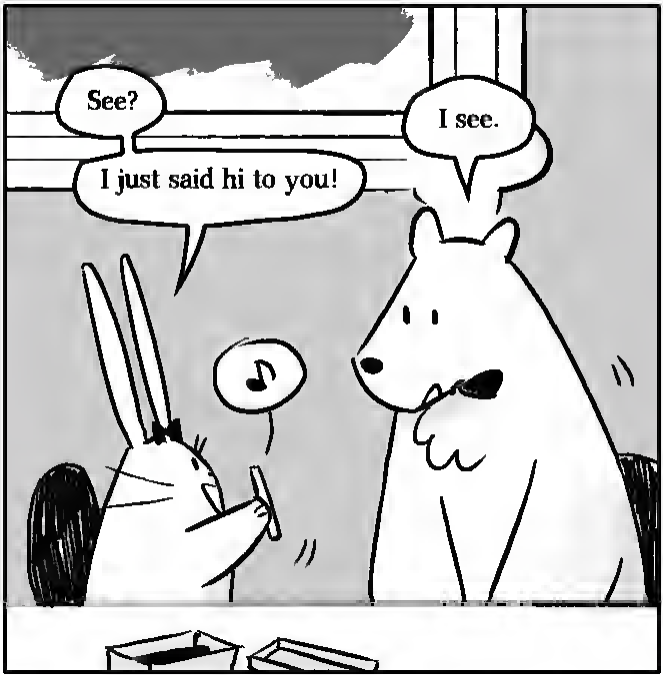




Tiffany will teach you how to use it!
Okay.

The smartphone is really convenient!
We can use it to send messages and pictures with others!

I prefer taking pictures with my eyes.
You can text me a message like this...
Blah
Blah
Blah
Blah
TAP
TAP



See?
I just said hi to you!
I see.

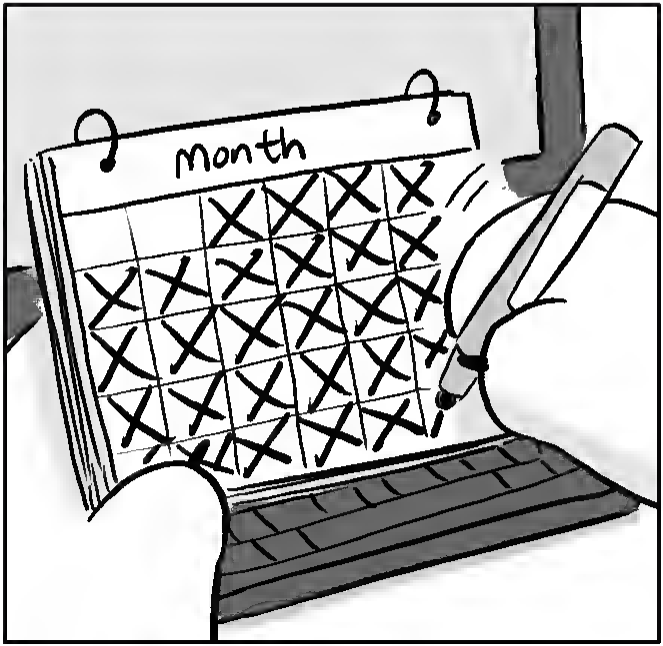
But why do we send messages through the phone when I can talk directly to you?

Eating out

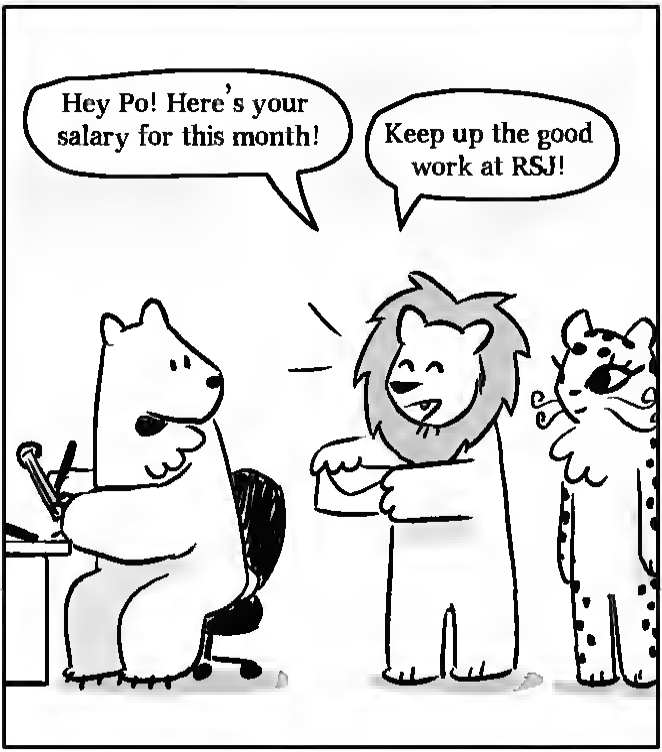
I'll have those.
What are you doing Po?

It's food, it will get thrown away if no one eats it.

I feel like we live in two different worlds...
?
Po is right.
Food is scarce in the arctic, we waste too much food in the city.



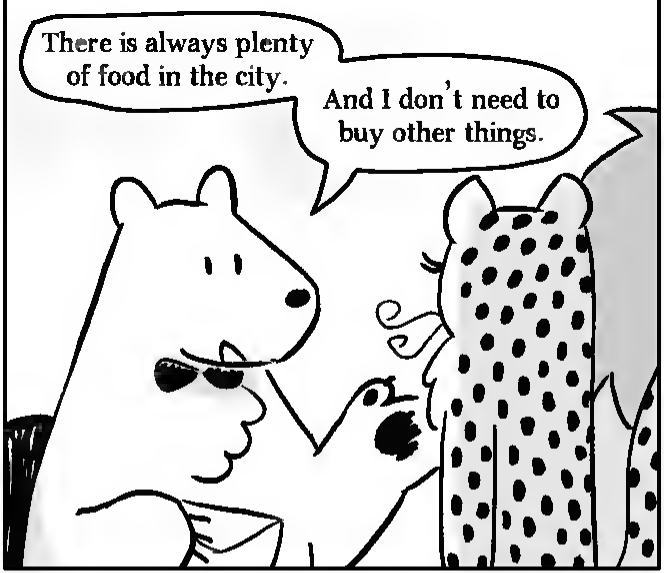
Month



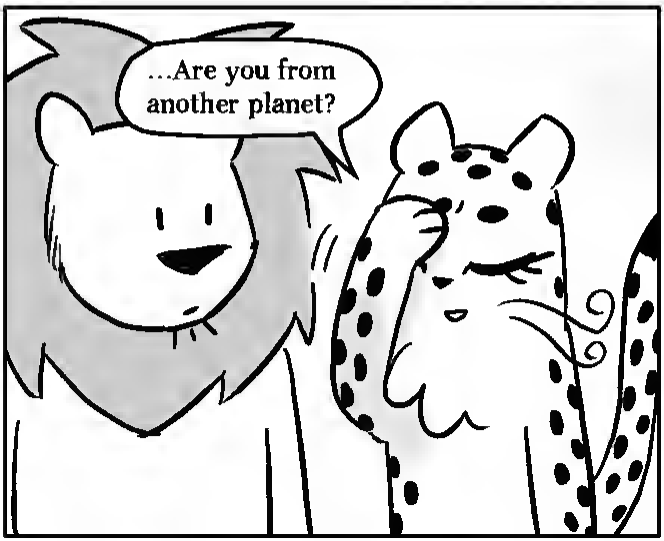
Hey Po! Here's your salary for this month!
Keep up the good work at RSJ!

Thanks, but I don't need money.
I'm happy enough to have work to do and a place to sleep.

What?
That's ridiculous!
Who wouldn't want
money for their work?
You still need money to buy food
and other expenses though...

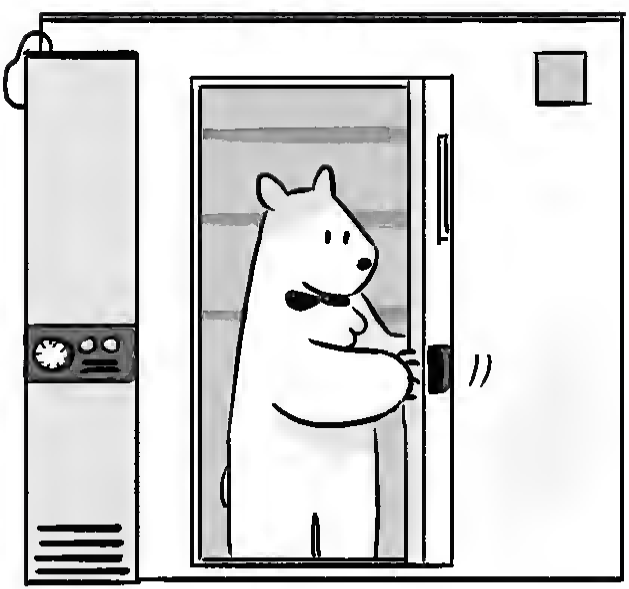


There is always plenty of food in the city.
And I don't need to buy other things.



...Are you from another planet?

Alright, just take it as a gift from us.
Or whatever that suits you
Okay, thanks again.



Why do everyone in the city care so much about money?
I just don't understand.

ROAR STREET JOURNAL

Nila Alexandre
I'm not sure where I'm supposed to write the national animal thing but I'll tell you here. I'm from the united States but my father is Haitian and born in Haiti so the national animal of Haiti is the Hispaniolan Trogon which is a bird

Readers from Haiti!

The Hispaniolan Trogon is the national bird of Haiti. It is only found on the Hispaniola Island in the Caribbean. It lives in tropical moist forests but are currently threatened because of habitat loss. It now mostly live in a few remaining protected areas.